INTRO

Team player with strong oral and written communication skills, highly motivated individual with proven leadership skills with passion for problem solving. I make it my priority to leave every situation with positive value. I have a strong eye for a concrete design in the UI/UX experience. People call me the "idea man" which is not a lie. Sit me down at a table on any topic and I can fill a sheet of paper with solid original ideas and solutions to problems. I've been studying Full stack development for 2 years now. I spent my first year taking an online course and becoming familiar with azure, and python. I am in my second year and currently enrolled into the KU full stack course. My graduation date is set towards the end of August.
